Hindi Language Workshop for Parents

Circular for Std II – VII

Date : 22.7.09

Dear Parents,

We at TOS use the 'Whole language approach' for learning any language.

'Whole language' means to get back to the basics in the real sense of that word i.e. to set aside books and tests and invite children to engage in more meaningful learning experiences. The idea is to create an environment which is print –rich and activities such as reading stories aloud, sharing books, motivate the children to read and write with pleasure and with a purpose. In whole language approach classrooms, there is much to talk about, listen for, write about, and read about. It helps children to establish a strong foundation of language for effective future learning. Without meaningful experiences, listening and reading cannot make sense, and one cannot certainly talk or write about things that are not understood.

We believe that parents are our equal partners in educating children and helping them to grow and develop into a complete personality. Thus we thought of conducting a Hindi language workshop for you so that you will be able to assist your children in their literacy development which includes listening, speaking, reading and writing. We will include lot of games and activities through which teaching Hindi language will be fun and interesting and it will help you to guide your child.
